Total 197 words used.

In 2020, Infosys Limited articulated its ESG vision for 2030 in a vision document, setting forth its ambitions in the Environmental, Social and Governance spaces for the next 10 years. Every year since then, it has published its ESG vision, where it declares its progress on these ambitions. This year, being the mid-point of that journey, it also relooked at its Vision 2030 and renewed its ambitions.

The ESG report 2024-25, thus, while also informing stakeholders of the progress made in the past year in the ESG spheres, also spoke about what the renewed ambitions were. This report is a handbook for all stakeholders and analysts to view and refer to the company's ESG activities for the year.

The theme of this year's report is 'Insight to Impact', which spoke about how Infosys is striving to improve on its sustainability targets while doing business in the AI era.

The design adopts bold images and infographics to highlight numbers and impact of the company's ESG efforts. The E, S and G sections are demarcated with three colors, and this allows for both easy navigation and relatability. The report stands out for its neat layout and comprehensive, structured reporting.
